Transform your life into an outstanding comic strip and animated scene! MotionArtist is a creative animated application that will help you to turn your life into a successful comic strip and give you the chance to be the artist you always dreamed of being. With MotionArtist, you will get the chance to create your own comic strip and complete scenes that you can employ in your PowerPoint presentations, web pages, videos, Facebook status updates and even your other social media profiles. MotionArtist comes with a few different presets of words and images that you can use in a panel along with the ability to create your own image and text balloons. From the smallest panel to a large scene, you can view an extensive list of possible options where you can reshape or duplicate entire panels. You can also set an animation to the panel where you can view all the elements and add sound to it. MotionArtist's timeline shows you the adding of layers and you can easily include special effects to the panel so that your message gets to the audience without being lost in the presentation. Experience the difference! The features of MotionArtist are endless and you should know that you can edit your work after each rendering by viewing the timeline. Furthermore, the app is equipped with automatic features that will ensure an optimal design, where the objects you add are optimally aligned and will be added to the panel automatically. Additionally, you can duplicate, resize, rotate and merge any element to ensure that your panel is fit for the task. In case you feel that your work is missing something, the timeline will allow you to easily add layers, provide text and set sounds to the panel, so that you can provide a much more engaging audience. Simple yet powerful, MotionArtist will go a long way towards improving the quality of your presentations, which will ultimately give you more authority and influence in your office.
