Requires WordPress 2.7 Q: Can I align two widgets with respect to another widget with a single line of code? In Xamarin.forms I am trying to align two ImageViews with respect to a TextView with a single line of code. The two ImageViews are left aligned with respect to the TextView and I want them to be placed as close to each other as possible. The first ImageView is fixed (and aligned to the left) and the second one is positioned left of the first ImageView. I have currently two different approaches: I set the two ImageViews position based on the text of the TextView. and They are aligned in code like this: if (title!= null) titleImageView.Left = titleTextView.VerticalTextAlignment = UITextAlignment.Left; if (number!= null) numberImageView.Left = numberTextView.VerticalTextAlignment = UITextAlignment.Left; Both are possible, but I do not know which is the best option. Does anyone know how I can align two controls on a single line? A: You can probably do it with a RelativeLayout Inside the RelativeLayout, you could use an asf:Span as one of the View's. So, you could declare a LinearLayout and
