How to configure the .NET SOAP

Client provides plenty of options that allow you to fine-tune the software and make it easier to use. To get started click on Tools - Options and select the Network tab. You will see the IP address and port of the web service that you want to send a request to. If you know the IP address but not the port number, just type the IP address. There are several settings you can change. We recommend you leave the default values and save your changes only if the settings don't work as expected. The default value of the connection timeout should be a suitable time. If it's too short then the web service will timeout the connection. You can modify this setting to reflect your network's ability to provide a constant connection to the service. Click on the 'Change proxy settings...' button if you want to configure your proxy settings. It will be automatically configured if it's not already. You can select 'Ask each time' in the 'Use proxy settings for internet' box. Click the button 'Test connection' to test if your settings are correct. To check whether you have an error in your server configuration, enter the URL of a web service in the box. The.NET SOAP Client will try to connect to the web service and present a response that will show you if there is any error. .NET SOAP Client Features: The.NET SOAP Client is a versatile software that can be used to test different security measures that are usually implemented to protect SOAP traffic.
